Violation of Property and Effective Remedy Rights Due to Expropriation without a Decision of Public Interest

With its decision dated 10.11.2022 and application numbered 2019/1255, the Constitutional Court has decided that the applicant's right to property has been violated due to the expropriation of their immovables without a public interest decision or a zoning implementation plan, and applicant's right to an effective remedy has been violated due to the inability to have the judicial authorities audit whether there is a public interest or not.
